

A2 German Revision

Oral Examination

The revision for this paper is of paramount importance for the final grade. You need to make sure you have revised the topic specific vocabulary for all the sub topics within the three Units covered this year. The for and against sheets which you have in the orange files will help with this. You will also have to talk for five minutes on the History you have studied and either the Borchert or the Brecht. The questions you have on these topics should be used as guidance.

Written paper

As was the case with AS, if you have revised well for the oral, a lot of the revision for this paper will have been covered.

Revision of vocabulary will be the main focus for the comprehensions and www.kerboodle.com has some good vocabulary building practice. It also provides listening and reading papers.

www.authentik.com and www.authentikinteractive.com is another useful aid.

Remember you will have to translate 10 sentences from English to German, so grammar may need revision, in particular adjective endings, the passive, the subjunctive, conditional clauses with modal verbs and verb tenses.

However, it will be the essay question which will probably distinguish between the A and the A* candidate. You should decide in advance which cultural topic you intend to write on and revise from your notes and past essays. Again the list of questions on these topics should be known in some detail.
